

Wednesday,
October 4, 2017

University of Bern
Hochschulstrasse 4
3008 Bern
Kuppelraum (5th floor)

Everybody is welcome.

Please register before September 18 by sending an email to:
admin@transcure.unibe.ch

NCCR TransCure Symposium on Membrane Transporters & Cancer

Morning Session

09h00 Welcome and introduction

Prof. Dr. Christine Peinelt, Co-Chair of
NCCR TransCure Symposium
Prof. Dr. Roch-Philippe Charles, Co-Chair of
NCCR TransCure Symposium

09h10 Revisiting the role of ABC transporters in cancer

Prof. Susan Bates, Division of Hematology/Oncology,
Columbia University Medical Center, US

09h55 TRPC channels and the microenvironment in pancreatic cancer

Prof. Dr. Albrecht Schwab, Institut for Physiology, University of Münster, DE

10h40 Coffee break

11h00 Potassium channels in cancer: from bench to bedside

Prof. Annarosa Arcangeli, Department of Experimental and Clinical Medicine, University of Florence, IT

11h45 Pore-forming and auxiliary subunits of voltage-gated sodium channels (NaV) in cancer cells: Complementary effects in the development of metastases?

Dr. Sébastien Roger, Assistant Professor, Inserm U1069,
University of Tours, FR

12h30 Lunch break

Afternoon Session

13h30 Career within academia: from communication to syncytium

Prof. Brenda R. Kwak, Dept. of Pathology and Immunology,
Faculty of Medicine, University of Geneva

14h15 Balance of genders in science: why does it matter?

Panel discussion with all speakers

15h30 Closing remarks, followed by an apéro

Prof. Hugues Abriel, Director NCCR TransCure